1 Health Care

General information on health care

Georgia offers a universal health care program funded by the state. It provides some packages in ambulatory and in-patient care. The universal health care is open to citizens of Georgia as well as asylum seekers, and persons with humanitarian or refugee status. The universal health care program offers full and basic packages depending on the income of each person. Only socially vulnerable groups are eligible for the full package. Employed person whose gross salary exceeds 1000 GEL but annual income is less than 40 000 GEL is entitled to universal healthcare package with limited services. As many healthcare services are still not covered by the State insurance, some people choose to get private insurance. Within the universal health care program, emergency care is covered by 70-100%.

The treatment of HIV, Hepatitis C, and TB, as well as insulin for diabetes patients, are free of charge. Dialysis is also available in big cities and is free of charge. A state-funded methadone substitution program is available free of charge. At an initial phase, only a check-up/enrollment fee of 70 GEL has to be paid. Medical costs for child-care (up to age 5) are partly covered depending on the type of illness. More general information is available at <https://nha.moh.gov.ge/ge/p/your-health>. Consider contacting the Ministry of Health and enroll at the nearest clinic.

Availability of medical facilities and doctors

All clinics in Georgia are privatized and the universal health care does not cover all costs. Georgian citizens can address any clinic at any time, based on their needs. However, this service must be paid. Preferably, call and sign up for an appointment. There are daily waiting lists for urgent cases.

Admissions to medical facilities

Patients can call and sign up for an appointment. For the State Insurance, patients have to consult their family doctor (according to their place of residence) who will then refer them to a relevant specialist. For contact information on family doctors and relevant clinics please visit: <http://ambulatoria.moh.gov.ge/>. Some appointments and medicines are covered by the State Insurance (depending on the social status, pension age, and vulnerabilities of the person) For more information about eligibility for receiving medication for free in the frame of state insurance please see following webpage http://ssa.gov.ge/index.php?lang_id=GEO&sec_id=1531 and to see the list of chronic medications that are funded by the state for Georgian Citizens please see the following webpage: <https://nha.moh.gov.ge/ge/c/medicines>.
