1 Health Care

General information on health care

Public health insurance is available to Montenegrin citizens. Health care for citizens in Montenegro is provided at three levels: primary (health care centres), secondary (general and special hospitals) and tertiary (Clinical Centre of Montenegro).

The level of primary health care, which should cover 80-85% of health care needs. The holder of primary health care is the chosen doctor in the outpatient clinic, i.e. the teams of chosen doctors. Organizationally, a primary health care centre has three basic units:

- The outpatient clinic of the chosen doctor, i.e. the teams of chosen doctors (chosen paediatrician, chosen doctor for adults and chosen gynaecologist);
- Support centres for chosen doctors organized at the local and regional level for: lung diseases and TB, diagnostics, mental health, children with special needs, prevention, etc.;
- Units for home visiting team, primary level physical therapy and patient transport service.

The level of secondary health care is provided through specialist outpatient clinics and hospital wards, as well as the tertiary level of health care with the development of subspecialist outpatient clinics.

Primary healthcare protection is implemented through the selected doctor (each insured person is assigned to one specialist at their municipality). Coverage and services within the health insurance include: promotion of health; disease prevention; diagnostics, examinations and treatment, including measures of early identification and prevention of progression of damage; rehabilitation and specialized medical rehabilitation; continuous health care; dental health care; emergency medical assistance; dialysis; transfusion medicine services; medicines and medical devices; medical-technical apparatus. In case of the unavailability of the prescribed medical treatment or medical device within the public health, the insuree has a right to the full reimbursement of the medical expenses. The following groups are entitled to the free healthcare protection:

- children under the age of 18 years;
- regular high school and university students aged under 26 years;
- pregnant women;
- persons aged 65+;
- unemployed persons;
- handicapped persons;
- everyone who has voluntarily donated their blood at least 10 times.

When registering through the Employment Agency (EA) unemployed insurers do not pay anything. Employed persons are entitled to public health care contributions. When the person is employed, insurer's contribution is 8.5 % of the paycheck, and employer's contribution is 3.8%.

This healthcare plan includes free of charge treatment in state hospitals and clinics, as well as medication prescribed by doctors and listed positive by Ministry of Health on their annual list of free medication.

Furthermore, complete physical examination by a chosen doctor in a health center is required, followed by a conversation with a psychologist at the school where the child will be enrolled. All information can be obtained from the school which is chosen by the parents. When enrolling a child in the first grade of primary school they need to present a birth certificate or data on the child's residence.

5 Education

6 Children

General situation of children and infants

Montenegro is home to 132,606 children below the age of 18. They account for 23.4% of the total population (51.9% boys and 48.1% girls). Seven percent of children under five in the general population and 21% of children under five living in Roma settlements are stunted, while the percentages for underweight children was 4% and 8%, respectively. Fifty-three percent of children (general population) aged 3–5 attend early childhood education, while the percentage is much lower in Roma settlements (16%). Among the general population, the completion rate of primary school is 96%, while for secondary school it is 86%. In Roma settlements, the completion rate for primary school is 56%, for secondary school only 3%. Fifty-eight percent of children under 5 and only 6% Roma children have three or more children's books at home. In 2019, 6% of children aged 5–17 (general population) and 25% of children in Roma settlements experienced anxiety based on the perceptions and opinions of their mothers/caretakers. The percentages for instances of depression were lower: 3% for the overall population and 8% for Roma settlements.

In 2018, 32% of children were at risk of poverty. Relative poverty rates varied significantly as per differing household compositions. While the at-risk-of-poverty rate stood at 15% for households with no dependent children, households with dependent children were considerably more exposed to the risk of poverty (28%). There is a strong correlation between the poverty rate and: a) the activity status (unemployed/inactive fare much worse); b) the level of education

(a lower education level implies a higher poverty rate). Finally, 37% of children (general population) were materially deprived in three or more dimensions – 91% in Roma settlements. Adolescents in Montenegro make up approximately 14% of the country's 620,029 population, with about 86,000 young people aged 10 to 19. Montenegro's Youth Law recognizes young people as those aged 15–30, and they comprise about 142,000 people or 23% of the total population. The social background of the parents do not have an influence on the basic children's access to health care and education.

6 Children

(Non-) governmental actors dealing with children's well-being and rights

The NGO Center for the Rights of the Child of Montenegro's areas of activity are: Research, analysis, monitoring and reporting; Strengthening children's participation and direct work with children; development of social inclusion through the development of service support for vulnerable groups (Club of foster parents and children from foster families; Housing with support for young people leaving institutional accommodation-Home «Mladost» Bijela; Center for support of children and families / Day care for children at risk); continuous promotion of the rights of the child defined by the UN Convention on the Rights of the Child (General principles - right to life, survival and development, right to non-discrimination, right to participation and best interests of the child, Civil rights and freedoms of the child, Family environment and alternative care, Basic health, welfare and social protection, Education, leisure and cultural activities, Special protection measures).

The NGO Juventas provides direct assistance, supports the improvement of service quality, produces and advocates for changes in public policies, develops the capacity of decision makers and service providers, as well as the target groups with which it works. Support programs for the work of student parliaments have also been developed, support for youth activism (since 1996), participation of young people in decision-making (since 1996), support for increasing youth mobility, support for social empowerment of Roma, support for LGBT rights. And support for the realization of the rights of drug users, support for access to the rights and services of sex workers, support for young people at risk of social exclusion.

UNICEF first opened an office in Podgorica in 1993 to help the government cope with a large number of children refugees coming from neighboring republics of ex-Yugoslavia. After the end of war in ex-Yugoslavia, a new wave of children refugees came from Kosovo in 1998-1999. UNICEF worked with the responsible authorities to provide basic services for the survival and development of women and children refugees (e.g. food, access to health services, vaccinations, ensuring basic levels of hygiene and education in refugee camps, etc.). UNICEF's support over time has shifted from that of an emergency response to most recently supporting Montenegro in the dual process of nation building and EU accession. With Montenegro's independence in 2006, UNICEF opened the first Country Office in Montenegro. It is also then that the first Country Programme for Montenegro (2007-2011) was created. Today, UNICEF's emphasis is on supporting Montenegro's children to be at the heart of the EU accession process. This is of crucial importance because Montenegro's children of today are European citizens of tomorrow. Montenegro is now an upper-middle-income country. The way UNICEF operates in such an environment is by supporting capacity building of national institutions to develop appropriate policies and implement them in order to bring positive, lasting and sustainable changes for all children.

9 Virtual Counselling

Migrant assistance in Montenegro

The Virtual Counselling project is implemented by the International Organization for Migration (IOM) in Germany. Migrants living in Germany who are considering a return are offered return and reintegration counselling by IOM staff in Montenegro. Local IOM staff can be contacted in English and Montenegrin through online messengers.

This service aims to empower migrants to return in dignity by informing them about various return and reintegration options and assistance programmes.
